“ Some of my favorite memories are from Grandma and Grandpa keeping us when we were little on Saturday evenings. We'd spend the night and go to church the next morning - we'd get a bath, I'd ask gma to French braid my hair which she did if it didn't hurt her hands too much, and then she had this little trunk full of Mary Kay nail polishes she'd let me pick from and she'd paint my nails.

I'm thankful she took the time to teach me how to crochet, cross-stitch, etc.

I remember one time she bought this tiny Lincoln log cabin. She took us on a walk back into the woods, and propped her little cabin up in a tree and said she'd always wanted a little cabin in the woods. We used to try and look for it from the window.

She did a thing with me for a long time where anytime we held hands, we'd squeeze our hands to like say a whole phrase or sentence to the other and try and guess what was being "said." 3 squeezes was always "I love you."

I'm thankful for the times we had together, and for the years my kids got to spend with her in their lives, too. She is greatly missed, but I know she's much better off now and we'll see her again one day.
