“ Saying goodbye is never easy. As much as we want to keep our loved ones here with us, we must remember that heavenly home that awaits them. May you find peace in knowing that Dennis is smiling down upon each of you with a brand new body free of all the pain and agony that he has endured in these last few months. Praying for God to shower you all his comfort and the strength to go on knowing that one day you will be together again.

“ I met Dennis when he was stationed in Jacksonville in the Marine Corps in 1971. Watched him grow from that young man into the wonder man he became as a husband, father, but to me, mostly my friend. I treated him like a "brother" and even thou we were miles apart, I knew he always cared. He will surely be missed----- but he is in a better place. All memories of Dennis are good ones. Rest in Peace my Friend--
